New Endeavors by Women Creating new futures for homeless women and children for 30 years.

In partnership with homeless women, New Endeavors by Women (NEW) creates new futures by providing a nurturing environment where women can recognize their worth and achieve independent living. NEW transforms lives by providing housing, fostering the development of life skills, and promoting education and employment to increase self-determination and end the cycle of homelessness for women and children.

We serve FAMILIES in our New Horizons permanent supportive housing program. NEW helps strengthen women's capacity to be heads of household, and offers women and children a chance to build life skills and forge stronger bonds as a family unit.

Our Youth Enrichment Program (YEP!) provides academic support and life skills development to our youth residents in grades 1 to 8. YEP! utilizes the Early Risers "Skills for Success" model to engage children and parents in the children's scholastic achievement, especially reading and math, as well as their social growth. YEP! operates during the school year and summer months, giving children a full year of support and enrichment activities.

The need is critical. Children account for 60% of individuals in Washington's homeless families- and homelessness takes a heavy toll on the more than 4,000 children in our city's homeless families. According to the National Center on Family Homelessness: homeless children are sick four times more often than other children; have three times the rate of emotional and behavioral problems; are four times more likely to show delayed development; and have twice the rate of learning disabilities as non-homeless children.

In 2018, our successes included:

- Providing housing with support services to 163 people, including 120 women and 43 children
- Graduating 86% of transitional residents to permanent housing
- Working closely with residents to improve job retention and employment stability, leading to increased earnings which averaged $13.50 per hour
- Among our residents who are able to work, 80% secured jobs or enrolled in school. We also had 2 residents who enrolled in college courses.

URGENT MEASURABLE PROACTIVE

New Endeavors by Women's (NEW) programs address an urgent and growing need for housing for the most vulnerable District residents. Most importantly, our services make a measurable impact: more than 85% of residents succeed in our programs, transition to more independent living, and move out of homelessness.

This year, we proudly marked 30 years of successfully helping more than 3,200 women and more than 600 children. Our long-term vision is to end homelessness for the most vulnerable residents of the District of Columbia. In working toward that vision, NEW is responding proactively to the growing need in the District for homeless services for women and their families.

NEW operates seven housing programs: one transitional and six permanent supportive programs, including one housing program exclusively for families and two programs exclusively for senior women. Each year we provide as many as 200 women and children with: safe shelter; advocacy and case management; independent living skills education; substance abuse recovery assistance; parenting skills training; academic enrichment activities; employment and career counseling; strategies for obtaining and maintaining permanent affordable housing; on-site support groups and workshops; therapeutic and recreational activities; and, permanent housing.
